CARE

What does it mean to care for our Island home?

For our Stewardship team, it always comes back to protecting our most precious resource - our water. Vashon's single aquifer runs under us all, fills our water bottles, and keeps our creeks running clear and clean.

Fern Cove, one of Vashon's most established and beloved preserves, got some much needed attention in 2023. We built a new parking lot, trail, and boardwalk to this very special place. Traditionally, cars parked on the side of the road on Cedarhurst - right in the wetland! The new parking area offers safer access to the mouth of Shinglemill Creek and its network of trails while keeping vehicles out of the estuary that welcomes our autumn runs of Coho and Chum.

On the southern tip of Vashon, we began restoration of a newly acquired property at Tahlequah Creek. Like many of our restoration projects, the team's first step was cleanup. The Land Trust salvaged and recycled 100 tons of trash and concrete debris, some of it in direct contact with the creek. Next up for the team - invasive removal! While the forest is in good shape overall, there was pressure from holly, blackberries, ivy, and laurel. Our volunteers climbed up the slopes of the ravine to remove as much as possible. Blackberry brambles were replaced by 550 trees, 370 shrubs, and 60 ferns. As they grow, these plants will provide shade and habitat for insects, who in turn will provide a natural smorgasbord for young fish.

With the support of the Land Trust community, the Stewardship crew is able to restore creekside habitat, maintain trails, nurture small forests into tall stands of trees, and keep meadows open for birdsong, making our Island a beautiful refuge for all who live and travel here, humans and critters alike.

NOURISH

We take care of the land because the land takes care of us.

Since 2019, the Matsuda Farm team has practiced regenerative agriculture to build soil, centering the health of the land and people in how we farm. In 2023, the Land Trust focused on food access and justice, making more nutrient-dense food available to our Island community.

Matsuda supplied kale, peppers, lettuce, and other fresh vegetables to the Vashon Food Bank, White Center Food Bank, and the Vashon Island School District. Herbs, root vegetables, brassicas, and mixed greens filled the school's salad bars and hot menu items - all lovingly prepared from scratch by the kitchen staff. In addition to regular school cafeteria meals, summer crops in the hoop houses and farm rows supported the School District's summer food program: Picnics in the Park.

Farmer Jones and young folks from the International Rescue Committee checking out the row crops at Matsuda

One Month of Deliveries to Vashon High

 120 lbs of salad greens

 30 lbs of bell peppers

 40 lbs of broccoli and cauliflower

 15 lbs of cilantro, dill, and other herbs

The Land Trust's support of young Island learners did not stop at the lunch tray! Through field trips and service hours, local students had opportunities to get a little dirty and become involved in community-driven food production. They were joined by a cadre of regular Land Trust volunteers who turned out cheerfully for Farm Fridays, helping with everything from hoop house maintenance to weeding and planting.

CONNECT

Every piece of land we preserved last year was thanks to a personal connection: a connection to the Land Trust, but more importantly, to the special wild places on these islands.

We clang our shovels into the rusty bed
Of the old pick-up truck,
Grab our work gloves, a bundle of cedar seedlings
Marking ribbons, one small dog,
And head up the curly road
To the five-acre wood.

-Jill Andrews "Planting Trees"
From the 2001 book The Nature of an Island

Jill Andrews, a founding Land Trust board member, and her husband Murray gifted a five-acre parcel of forested land adjacent to Frog Holler, affectionately known as "Murray's Wood Lot." We hope to transfer the ownership of this parcel to King County in 2024, expanding Frog Holler Forest, and adding another access trail to this beautiful South Vashon forest.

Meanwhile, another founding board member, Yvonne Kuperberg, donated a parcel of land that was added to our inventory of protected forests along Shinglemill Creek. Yvonne was an essential force for the Land Trust for many years, and her work continues to this day, even in "retirement."

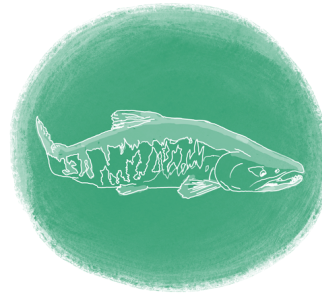

In May, The Land Trust purchased a trail easement from long-time Dockton Park hiker Kerri Goodman, who wanted a part of her property to provide a crucial missing link for the Maury Connector Trail, joining Dockton Forest and Maury Marine Park. In December, the Land Trust transferred this easement for "Marcello's Trail" to King County so that it could be managed as part of their trail system. Work on this trail, and the rest of the Connector Trail, will resume in 2024. We cannot wait to stroll through the wooded section of Marcello's Trail, with its beautiful mix of firs, huckleberries, and salal.

Thanks to the generosity of Jill, Murray, Yvonne, and Kerri, locals and visitors alike will have new trails to roam, trees to get to know, and favorite places to discover.

Kerri's two loves: Marcello the dog and Dockton Forest.
